

Some tools to study the controllability and the stabilization of Korteweg de Vries equations

Jean-Michel Coron

Laboratoire Jacques-Louis Lions, UPMC Univ Paris 06

The Korteweg de Vries equation allows to describe approximately long waves in water of relatively shallow depth. We study this equation on a finite interval. The control is acting on the boundary of this interval. Depending on these boundary conditions we get different control systems. We present some tools to study the controllability and the stabilization of these control systems.